The Friday Brunch at the Steinberger reminds of the good old days in Dubai, when social brunches were THE place to be, and they served as a community focal point just as much as a luxury buffet late on Friday (used to be Thursday, by the way).

The Steinberger is a brand-new and very modern hotel, so don't get me wrong with the "good old days" quip – the architecture and decor is fabulously elegant – the reminiscence was aimed at the great number of lovely people in attendance – and the Bayside Brunch was impressive!

The concept of bringing together several world cuisines and creating one sumptuous buffet of global proportions is not new – but rarely is it executed with perfection as at the Steinberger!

The attention to detail was spectacular.

Overall, the Bayside Restaurant & Terrace has shot up to one of the top Friday brunches in Dubai – and the tight-knit community is spreading the news fast!

The poise and elegance of the presentation and the delightful dishes are deservedly the talk of the town.
