

In one of the poshest areas of Shanghai an iconic building oversees the impressive skyline: Le Royal Méri dien Hotel.

Located in the heart of the city right next to the famous pedestrian Nanjing Road East - and you definitely want to be in a central location in Shanghai - the luxurious rooms and suites offer outstanding views of the mighty Huangpu River, People's Square and the Shanghai skyline.

The hotel check-in, positioned on a higher floor, is quick, professional and most welcoming with unique and stimulating experiences for the guests, which include unique artwork created by Marcus Kreiss, signature scents and a pleasant light experience - definitely auspicious Feng Shui!

Le Royal Club Lounge nestles among the clouds.

The suites are impressive with elegant and modern decor. Rooms that will be appreciated by even the busiest of businessmen, offering a restful retreat after an intense day.

Le Royal Meridien Shanghai offers the choice of four top restaurants, and weekenduae will review the exquisite Ai Mei Chinese restaurant separately.

Make sure you experience la “Vie en Rose” Sunday Brunch, if possible, which is a pink-themed brunch blossoming with creativity, free flowing Moet Rose and Moet Brut Champagne, and a spectacularly lavish buffet.

After a “stressful” day out in the city, perhaps shopping at famous luxury brand shops nearby, or a day out on business or sightseeing, the indoor heated pool is the perfect place to relax or work-out - it is enormous!

Or treat yourself at the sumptuous spa, or keep yourself physically fit while on the road with the super well-equipped training room.

All in all, this is definitely “THE” hotel to stay if you are visiting bustling Shanghai city.
