

A guest review by Ms Rumsha Siddiqui

It comes full-fledged with a chic and cosmopolitan bar, charismatic ambience and a selection of melodious and up-beat music. The starter list is extensive, followed by a five-star main-dish library, chill out drinks and mouth-watering desserts.

A tangy starter of Seabass Ceviche with citrus and guacamole shows attention to the minutest detail and is in every respect a party for the taste-buds. The garlic and chili prawns are loaded with authentic Spanish spices, each prawn perfectly cooked, perfectly savory and perfectly lustrous.

Following the world-famous Spanish paella, come main dish, we had the Wagyu beef and lamb chops caramelized with honey and quinoa; tender, juicy and flavorful, complimented well with a chilled lemon sangria drink.

Overall, El Sur is a benchmark of modern dining, top-notch service and an unprecedented cuisine. A must visit for all those seeking a unique dining experience in a city that is crowded with slapdash restaurants boasting exception and class.
