

Enjoying a glorious location in central Budapest, the Radisson Blu Beke is a top choice for a hotel in the Hungarian capital city.

The first to greet you will be Mr Foster, who is never late to his post at the entrance.

The hotel opened in 1913 a few blocks away from the Western Railway Station. The hotel became soon a huge success among travellers, and from the 1930s, one of the centers of the city's cultural life as well.

If not for a room, come in for coffee!

or a little cake...

The suite rooms are very comfortable.

And the regular room is as well!

The service is efficient and smiles are free.

Breakfast was delicious, and served in style.

All in all, for a straightforward stay with no hassles, and the great convenience of a central location, look no further than the Radisson Blu Beke hotel in Budapest.
