

As the dreamy state of the approaching sunset takes over the consciousness, the view from the Yas Plaza Hotels soothes the soul and tempers the spirit.

In fact, it is the busiest time for the good people at Choices & Rangoli, as they rush to put the finishing touches on their main Iftar dinner event - remarkably, the venue covers both restaurants and the pool area, and the choices of seating is fantastic!

From long tables for groups of friends,

to private booths for families,

as well as low comfy armchair seating,

to outdoor poolside,

and finally even Emirati traditional tents!

Whatever you choose, come early, because the venue gets busy!

Fortunately, the vast area provides enough space for all to find their place...

Choices & Rangoli make for an interesting alliance in offering this joint effort for an truly international Iftar - Rangoli is the well-know Indian restaurant, and Choices serves as the international main restaurant for the hotel complex.

And together they offer a great selection of delicious fare for Iftar.

The main attraction were the Indian curries and live grill stations, located outside by the pool, while indoors several buffets were strategically placed.

Traditional Arabian foods were present, including the famed lamb ouzi!

On the plate, the ouzi rice serves as the foundation for a supreme dinner!

And then one adds as per one's preference... Choices sure lived up to its namesake.

And the delicacies were prepared with due care and attention to detail, presenting bites of yumminess from start to finish.

Overall, for one of Abu Dhabi's large-scale Iftars, ideal for large groups and discerning families, Yas Island offers great value at Choices & Rangoli.
