A magical tale deserves a magical surrounding, and Le Petit Prince in digital art format finds its home at the Theatre of Digital Art in Dubai.

Timeless imagination, and one of the world's most famous novellas – in fact, it has sold over 140 million copies, and it has been translated into 505 languages! – Le Petit Prince prompts creative thinking from both adults and children alike.

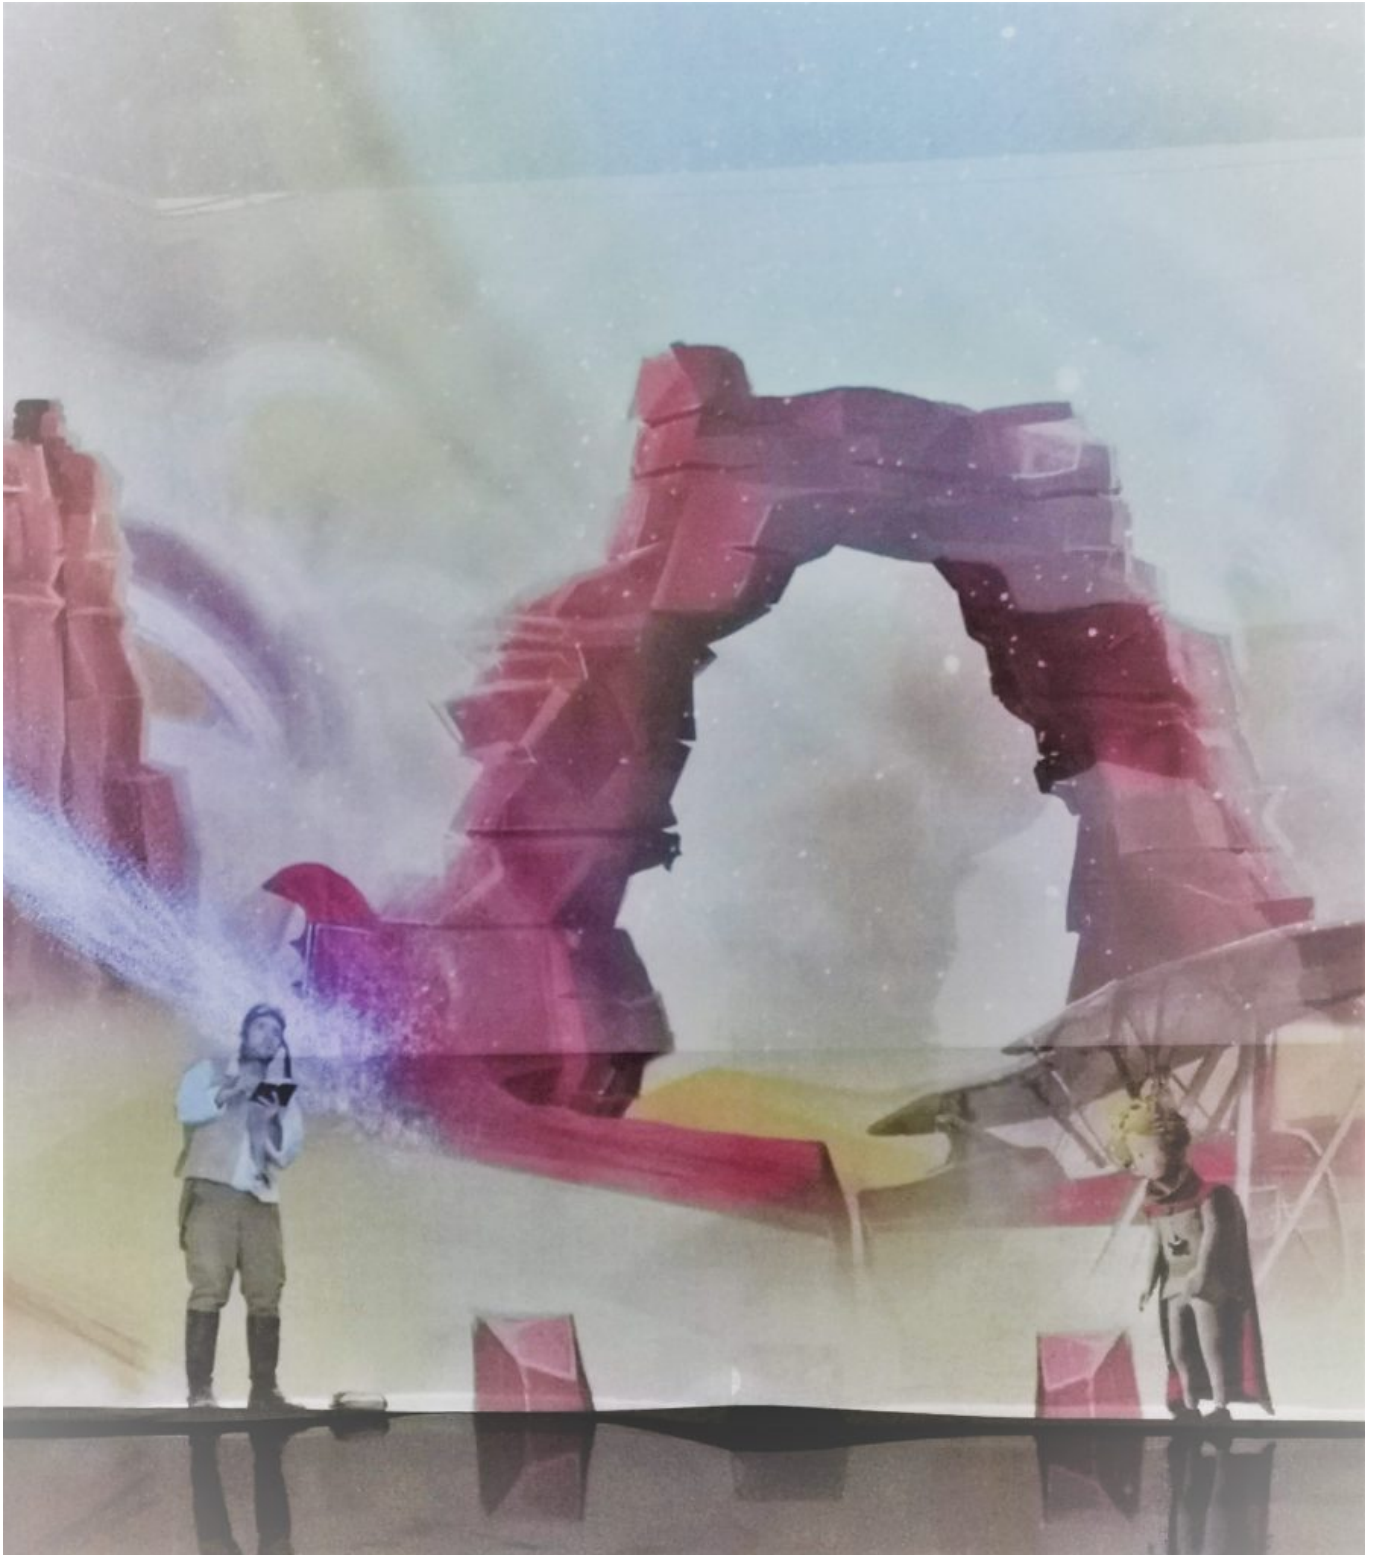

And as required reading in most all school curriculums, bringing your child and their friends to view it in an amazing visual format will be so stimulating for them; not to mention posing a few amusing questions to the adults' interpretations of the intergalactic adventure!

And the theatre of Digital Art is THE place to see such a splendid representation of this much-loved tale.

Indeed, either a preview before reading the short-story, or as a follow-up to the book, the 360-degrees dynamic artwork is mind-blowing!

Almost bringing to life the eight days spent together in the desert.... oh, you don't know, or forgot the storyline?

Well, Le Petit Prince at ToDA is a definite must, then!

The way the protagonists are portrayed, and the lively narration, make for a 45-minutes outside the ordinary -

And very cleverly, or perhaps by lucky chance, the gift shop presents souvenirs apparently themed to the production, so it becomes possible to take home and re-live the fantastic journey of Le Petit Prince as well!

For instance, the below photo was taken of a superb bedroom night-light, which projects space travel onto the ceiling and walls!

Yes, I wanted one... couldn't convince my wife...

Overall, ToDA again delights Dubai with a unique and imaginative digital interpretation of a fantastic story - don't miss it, even if you can't use your children's schooling as an excuse to enjoy the performance.

Besides, any excuse to visit Souk Madinat Jumeirah for a stroll, a bite to eat, or to shop, is a good reason.
