

Muchachas at first glance is a humble little place, nestled in the back of the Holiday Inn Express, Al Safa - but, give it the chance, and it will most probably become your favorite hang-out!

Indeed, the sincerity of Muchachas is refreshing in a Dubai of hot-headed marketing: over-promising, over-charging, and, sadly, oftentimes both under-delivering and under-achieving.

Muchachas is the opposite, and it works so well!

And Muchachas' simplicity transfers over into focus on offering a convenient, comfortable, affordable, delicious, and just fun place to dine and wine with friends and family.

Fully-equipped bar, and some amazing specials - cute and cozy corners to sit...

...and a fabulous rice with mole sauce!!!

Wow! Was that a superlative and authentic Mexican brunch, or what!?

A note about the mole – this is an amazingly flavorsome sauce, combining multiple and complex aromas, and based on dark chocolate, of all things!

And so Muchachas just kept impressing as each serving arrived at our table – humbly delivering far above expectations.

Drinks were also excellent and free-flowing should you choose that package deal, and again totally and truly Mexican – from a variety of frozen Margaritas...
